22 PERISH IN PLANE CRASH

19 War Veterans Among Victims In Tragedy At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—Twenty-two persons, including 19 veterans of European battlefronts, were killed early today as a C-47 transport plane crashed in flames 14 seconds after leaving Fairfax airport.

Only three of the 24 military personnel aboard the plane were removed alive from the flaming wreckage and one of those, Sgt. F. C. Tucker, Etna, Calif., died at a Kansas City hospital. A survivor said all three members of the crew perished.

Others brought to the hospital were Sgt. Ora D. De Long, whose papers indicated he is related to G. I. De Long, Barnstow, Calif., and Corp. Fred Ebert, Pasadena, Calif. The plane was bound from Newark, N. J., to the west coast and had stopped to refuel.

Army officials at Fairfax airport withheld names of the passengers and immediately placed the wreckage under a military police guard.

The plane had just crossed the Missouri river when it exploded and crashed, one witness said. Wreckage of the huge transport was scattered over a wide area but most of the fuselage fell on tracks of the Burlington railroad about five miles north of Kansas City's business section.

The World Today . . .

Remolding Japan

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Lt. Gen. ROBERT EICHELBERGER, commander of the U. S. Eighth army occupation forces in Japan, says "if the Japanese continue to act as they are acting, within a year this thing (the occupation) should be washed up"—explaining that "when an insular country loses its land, sea and air power, and is without raw materials and has big countries sitting on its flanks, it can't be much of a threat."

That's an encouraging statement, but probably the general would advise us to bide a wee before accepting such an early termination as a certainty. We have a titanic job to do there if the edict of Potsdam is carried out. That's decreed that Allied forces should occupy Nippon until certain objectives had been achieved, and among them were these:

Destruction of Japan's war-making power. Complete disarmament. "Stem justice" for all war criminals. "Freedom of speech and religion and of thought, as well as respect for the fundamental human rights, shall be established." There's a lot more of it, but that's plenty to get on with.

Gen. MacArthur, hero of Corregidor, speaking in New York yesterday, demanded that there be neither "a soft occupation nor a soft peace." He declared "the Japanese are not sorry for what they have done to countless thousands in the populations of countries they have overrun" and "they are not sorry for the torture they have inflicted on American soldiers." He added:

"I am a soldier and so do not pretend to know how long will be required or by what steps the bestial elements in their nature can be eradicated. But until we are assured that these qualities have been extinguished—not simply submerged—then the Japanese nation, powerless as it is today to make war, will remain a menace to the world."

With striking coincidence, Gen. MacArthur stated in Tokyo that the surrender terms "aren't soft and they won't be applied in kid glove fashion." He didn't venture to estimate the surrender terms—but one

Worst Of Hurricane Expected To Pass South Florida Coast

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15.—Grady Norton, chief forecaster of the U. S. Weather bureau here, said at 9:30 a. m. today that "Miami is definitely going to miss the worst of it" as a great hurricane, "packed by winds estimated at 150 M. P. H. screamed toward the south Florida coast."

"I believe we (Miami) are going to get out of it with slightly less than hurricane velocity, but we'll get a hard blow," he said.

"According to latest aerial reconnaissance reports, it looks like our forecasts hit it right on the nose—and that the core of the storm will sweep over the Keys somewhere behind Key Largo and Key West."

Key Largo is about 50 miles southwest of Miami; Key West about 165 miles.

"It should strike the Keys between 2 and 3 p. m. with winds well over 100 M. P. H."

Norton said the storm was approximately 150 miles southeast of Miami at 9:30 a. m., driving on the same relentless course northwestward with no sign of a turn to the north. When it strikes, he said, the hurricane will be traveling almost parallel with the neck of the "Keys" which stretch out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Hurricane warnings—ominous black and red flags—were hoisted along the Florida west coast from the Keys to Naples as the great winds whirled on after battering the Bahamas.

Hurricane-wise residents in most outlying exposed areas had already moved to havens of safety.

Over 100 patients at the Morrison field hospital were moved to the Eilmore hotel in Palm Beach.

Winds Already Felt

An advisory issued by the weather bureau at 10:30 a. m. said the vanguard of the storm had already reached the Keys and that the heart of the hurricane would strike with winds of well over 125 m.p.h.

"The center of the hurricane should pass over the keys by mid-afternoon," the advisory said.

The Miami weather bureau in an advisory at 5:30 a. m. ordered extension of the hurricane warnings that have been flying along the peninsula's east coast southward from Fort Lauderdale along the Keys to Dry Tortugas since yesterday.

The weather bureau said "most severe winds" will prevail over the keys, and that winds already had begun to increase along the south-east coast of Florida and the island chain.

They will continue to increase over southern Florida as the core of the storm approaches, and will reach hurricane force from Fort Lauderdale and Naples southward this afternoon, the advisory said.

Before dawn most residents of the Keys had sped northward by bus lines, army buses, or private cars to homestead on the mainland, or south to shelter at Key West.

Winds of full hurricane intensity were recorded shortly after midnight at Georgetown, the Bahamas, Nassau, capital of the British island colony, reported 32-mile winds which were increasing.

RATION OFFICIAL TO SPEAK MONDAY

Grocers, Consumers Invited To Attend Meeting Monday Night

Heralding in anti-inflation work in Salem, Lamar K. Donahay, district board supervisor for the regional Office of Price Administration, will speak to grocers and consumers of the Salem board area at a meeting at 8 p. m. Monday in the Memorial building.

Mayor R. R. Johnson has proclaimed last week "Anti-Inflation week"—a period during which special attention will be called to observance of ceiling prices in all retail businesses, especially in the grocery line.

Invitations to all retail grocers in Salem, Columbiana and the surrounding rural area have been issued by the Price panel of the Salem board and consumers are welcomed at the meeting.

Donahay spoke to the Salem Kiwanis club last spring and his talk on inflation problems following the close of the war was well received.

Roy Guy of Columbiana has been named chairman of the group, succeeding Lezier Caplan, who resigned this week.

The informational panel of the Salem board is assisting in arranging this session. Richard Wilson and Mrs. C. I. Beeler are panel members and Don E. Beattie is chairman.

President Truman Chats With Folks In Old Home Town

(By Associated Press)

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Sept. 15.—President Truman was having the time of his life today, mingling again with the folks who know him best.

The former Jackson county judge, casting aside for the weekend, cares of the nation's highest office, enjoyed himself and scenes of earlier struggles as an up-and-coming politician.

Folks who talked things over with Mr. Truman figured that he had no thought of doing anything more startling while here than visiting his "mama," 92-year-old Mrs. Martha Truman, at Grand View, some time tomorrow, and calling by his offices in the federal building at Kansas City to look over his mail and shake hands with old friends.

After he and Mrs. Truman flew in from Washington on the big C-54, the "Sacred Cow," they had supper in their old white frame home at 218 Delaware st.

The Trumans arrived at the Kansas City airport at 7:03 p. m. (CWT) yesterday. They climbed into a waiting automobile for the 10-mile drive to Independence along streets where occasional clusters of Missourians applauded or waved handkerchiefs.

AGED DIVISION GETS NEW CHIEF

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Sept. 15.—The affairs of Ohio's 117,000 old age pensioners will be in new hands Oct. 1 as a result of the resignation of Karl R. Babb, Xenia Republican, as chief of the state division of aid for the aged.

Welfare Director Frazier Reams, who announced Babb's action late yesterday, appointed Ira M. Lamoreaux of Columbus as acting chief until a permanent choice could be made for the $4,800 position. Lamoreaux is executive secretary of the division.

Babb, a former relief director in Xenia, started in the division as an examiner and assistant case work supervisor May 1, 1939, became supervisor of field services in June, 1941, and acting chief a year later when T. W. McGraw of Dennison entered the army.

Lamoreaux was one of the two first employees hired by the division in March, 1934, by Matt Brown, its first director. He was office manager before becoming executive secretary in 1936. He is a former statistician for the Ohio Relief commission.

A Salem girl and two other Army nurses who were among the first to enter Tokyo are shown on a landing barge in the U. S. Signal Corps photo received today by The News. Pictured at the right is Lieut. Emma Benedict of 618 Aetna st., Salem, while her companions are, left, Second Lieut. Dolores Dolak of Youngstown and, center, Lieut. Eleanor Pope of Girard.

The daughter of John Benedict, 618 Aetna st., Lieut. Benedict is a former Salem City hospital and Central Clinic nurse. She joined the Army Nurse corps last March 12 and has been overseas two months, during which time she has been in the Hawaiian Islands, Okinawa and Japan. She is now stationed with the 42nd General hospital in Yokohama.

Former Jap Bataan General Denies 'Death March' Blame

By AL DOPKING

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—Burling, baggy-suited Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma denied today he had ordered the death march of Americans from Bataan, but acknowledged he was ready "to take full responsibility for any of the acts of my subordinates," and surrendered to Kanagawa prefect rural police for Allied questioning.

Homma and Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda, who followed him as commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines, reached the station at 3:45 p. m. today (2:45 a. m. E. W. T.), accompanied by Associated Press Correspondents Morrie Landenberg and Max DeFor.

Both were civilian clothing and both said they had been retired from the Japanese army after their Philippines duty "without explanation."

Kuroda, 58-year-old officer who spent 36 years in the army, said, "we lost the war—there must have been some mistake."

Denies Atrocities

Kuroda said 10,000 American prisoners were held in the Philippines under his command (May, 1943—September, 1944) but he knew of no atrocities.

Both generals speak English with pronounced British accents.

Both took keen interest in the bomb damage in the Tokyo and Yokohama industrial areas, which they said they had not seen before.

Homma told me in that spring of 1942 the defense of Corregidor was so strong that he had been about ready to conclude that his assault was a failure when he saw the dying American garrison run up the white flag.

Homma insisted that he was surprised to find himself in General MacArthur's "wanted" list. He also was surprised, he remarked, when he learned on Dec. 8, 1941, (Japanese time) of Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

Relaxing at his Tokyo residence afterward over a cup of tea with two members of the Philippine society and three Associated Press correspondents, he said the Philippines assault had been his last campaign of the war.

"Not Tough March"

Of the murderous Bataan death march, with its thirst, hunger, sunstrokes, beatings and gamut of wanton brutalities by Japanese troops, he talked vaguely. He said he had not ordered the march, but that he did not know exactly how his staff officers arranged surrender details.

"I know they (the Americans) had to march because of a lack of conveyances, but I don't think it was such a tough march," he declared.

The battle for Bataan also had taken much longer than he had expected, he said, and he was surprised when he heard on the American radio how many troops the Americans thought he had in the Philippines.

He reported he had heard of 50 incidents in which Japanese soldiers abused Americans after their surrender.

"I did not see anything like that, and no American officers complained to me."

Prospect School P.T.A. Arranges First Meeting

The Prospect school Parent-Teacher association will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the sixth grade room of the school building, Sherman Garlock, president, will be in charge of the meeting, the theme of which is "Together We Build." A general outline of the year's program will be given.

All former members, parents having children in the first grade this year and those interested in the welfare of the school are invited.

4-H DAY AT FAIR ATTRACTS CROWDS DESPITE WEATHER

Rain put the damper to Junior and 4-H day activities at the Columbiana county fair yesterday—but despite that factor a crowd that reached 4,000 was on hand to witness the largest and most successful steer show held in Lebanon for a number of years.

The 100th anniversary fair closes tonight.

The evening's show, parade and fireworks were rained out but the morning and afternoon program—for the youngsters of the county—went on in spite of a heavy downpour in the afternoon.

The grandstand was nearly filled all afternoon as Fair Board Secretary J. Howard Sinclair auctioned off the 34 4-H club steers, to the obvious pleasure of the 34 youngster owners, who received the money for their winter's raising efforts.

The first prize steer, owned by Harold Moser of Hanoverton, was awarded the grand prize of $15 and sold at auction for 45c a pound. Weighing 905 pounds the animal brought the owner $407.28 when it was purchased by Brooke Votaw of Salem.

The Ruckenswood market of East Palestine bargained for the second place steer, owned by Jake Lindsmith, and paid 25c a pound for the 1055-pound animal.

County Commissioner Clarence Robinson purchased two head at 19c a pound while Votaw also bought three other head.

Third place went to Donald Moser of Hanoverton for his 930-pound Herford and he collected $5 in prize money and $233.24 from the East Liverpool Country club in the auction.

Queen of the 4-H clubs this year is Jane Stamp of R. D. Salem. She was honored at a special ceremony before the grandstand crowd following the modeling of 4-H club dresses and other clothing by the makers.

Helen Wise of Hanoverton and Clifford Fraser of Wellsville received War bonds from the Farmers National bank for the first places in the 4-H health contest.

Donna Regal Is Chosen By Baptist Fellowship

Miss Donna Regal of Salem was named president of the Youth's fellowship of the Wooster Baptist association in annual session Friday in Alliance. She succeeds Calvin Critchfield of Salem, who is attending the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Frank Brudery of Salem, president, was in charge of a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the association. Miss Martha Jane Stirling of this city sang a solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," with Mrs. James P. Hayden of Salem playing the accompaniment.

Approximately 24 from the local church attended, including the pastor, Rev. R. G. Hunter.

Next year's meeting will be held in Salem, probably in September.

BIG SHOT ROLE NOT FOR JAPS, NATION TOLD

Lt. Gen. Homma and Jose Laurel, Philippine Puppet, In Custody

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, conqueror of the Philippines, and the Filipino puppet president, Jose P. Laurel, were among seven wanted men taken into custody today as General MacArthur's headquarters informed Japan that she was not an equal of the Allies in any way and would have to quit acting like one.

Besides Homma and Laurel, those who surrendered or were seized today included Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda, Homma's successor in the Philippines command; Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, the man blamed for the sinking of the U. S. Gunboat Panay in China in 1937; Yoshitaka Ueda, Japanese geopolitical expert; Laurel's son and Benigno S. Aquino, president of the former puppet assembly of the Philippines.

Give Selves Up

Homma and Kuroda surrendered together to Japanese police; the other Japanese surrendered at Eighth army headquarters; and the Filipinos were arrested near Osaka and flown to Eighth army headquarters.

Col. Don Hoover, chief of censorship of Japan's press and radio, told them their distorted stories of the occupation must cease forthwith and that Japan was "a defeated enemy which has not yet demonstrated the right to a place among civilized nations."

Hoover announced the Domei agency, suspended yesterday because of distortions and bad faith, would be permitted to resume operations only on a limited scale and under 100 per cent U. S. censorship but that Domei and any other who transgressed again would be closed.

Homma asserted he had not ordered the Bataan death march and that it wasn't so bad. He acknowledged, however, as the commander he was responsible for acts of his subordinates.

Kuroda remarked, "we lost the war—there must have been some mistake."

Looking over the Tokyo and Yokohama industrial bomb damage, he exclaimed, "terrible!"

Both generals were high on MacArthur's list of men wanted for questioning and possible trial as war criminals.

They included two of Tojo's closest lieutenants, Lt. Gen. Tetsuzuki Suzuki, former minister without portfolio as well as president of the influential cabinet planning board, and Okinori Kaya, former finance minister.

The other former minister surrendering were Michio Iwamura, justice, and Sekiya Ino, agriculture and forestry.

The perfect date dress is shown at left above, in royal blue crepe, with nailhead trim. There is a double peplum, and Patricia O'Hara, radio actress, is the model. Patricia Munsel, charming young radio and opera singer, models the dainty formal, center, which is decorated with sequins and has a black corset. Household Hints

Before reusing cotton and rayon materials hold the material between your hands and give it two or three gentle jerks. If it breaks or shows signs of breaking, it is probably not worth using.

Never wash enamel surfaces when they are hot.

Do not try to make a frayed electric cord do since it may cause fire.

Be sure when cutting hangnails to use only sterile clippers or scissors.

Don't slam an oven door or lean on it, it may get out of line and allow heat to escape.

Regular cleaning can help protect curtains from effects of acid gases that weaken textile fibers.

Keep cellar stairs in good repair to prevent accidents.

Dry hot water-bottles away from heat.

Keep all firearms unloaded, out of sight and under lock and key.

Dry beans are an excellent source of iron and phosphorus.

Vapors From Bath Blend Rouge

ANN MILLER: Talented.

Putting on "war paint"—all but powder—and then hopping into the bath tub sounds like a deliberate plan for wrecking a make-up, doesn't it?

Not so at all, models who use this method say. Vapors from a warm bath loosen up a mask-like foundation, blend rouge out into ineffable softness, they tell me.

If you want your make-up to look as if it had been blended by a professional's fingers, try their method. When you get out of the tub, simply pat your face with a towel to mop up any moisture, and apply powder.

A slick technique of applying cheek rouge comes from another talented glamor girl—Ann ("Eddie Was a Lady") Miller. She stippling the cream on each cheek in freckle-like dots, and melts these into tender pink crescents with fingers dipped in cold water.

Who says TOKYO'S the last stop?

To the man who's travelled and fought half way round the world, the last stop is right here—home!

Every landing operation, every beachhead, every weary march brings him that much closer. But there's still a long way to go.

And just how long it will take depends in no small measure upon how well we do our war job here at home.

Part of our job—a large part—is turning every spare dollar we have into War Bonds . . . seeing to it that no dollar is spent needlessly.

It's not too much to ask.

After all, those Bonds will bring back extra dollars in 10 years. They'll give you a cash reserve for emergencies.

They'll help keep prices down where you can reach them now, and where he can reach them when he does get back. Those Bonds will go a long way toward creating the kind of peace we're all hoping for.

The best thing you can do for your fighting man—and yourself—is to turn your dollars into War Bonds—as many as you possibly can! And then hold onto them!

Quakers Impressive In Tie At Reilly

Barrettmens Reveal Prize Package In T To Equal Wares Of Bone Crushing Rhodes

Coach Ben Barrett's surprise package—a promising Salem High school football team—last night thrilled 4,500 first night gridiron enthusiasts at Reilly stadium by battling the Cleveland Rhodes Rams, highly favored to win, to a 0-0 tie.

Local fans went home well pleased, despite the fact that the Quakers booted the chance for winning touchdown just five minutes before the close of the game.

Old man Weather—for the first time in 14 years—nearly spoiled the opening game, but he came through, turned off the spigot and greeted the early game arrivals with a beautiful rainbow, sunshine and only a few drops of rain.

It was give and take all the way, with the locals taking a whale of a lot more to the husky Ram line than pre-game dopsters had predicted.

The Cleveland squad made one extensive drive throughout the game early in the second half, but couldn't get beyond the Quaker 27 yardline. Other than that they were held consistently by a game Salem outfit. Salem piled up five first downs and 107 yards from rushing while Cleveland rated eight and 177 yards.

Quarterback Dan Smith, who turned in a mighty creditable performance, made the one error that glared most obviously in the game. Handling a wet and slippery punt on the Rhodes 19, Smith let the oval get away from him on the Rhodes seven yard line, where Bob Riddick, 260 pound end, recovered and ended the only serious threat of the game.

"Mo" Hellinger, playing his first game at center since switching from football manager to player this year, did the recovering of the Rhodes blocked kick and set up the Salem chance.

Salem played heads-up ball, but a few glaring weaknesses were evident. On one of the prettiest plays of the game—a 52 yard kick by Salem's Smith in the middle of the second quarter—End Don Chappell "dogged it" just a bit too long to take advantage of the beautiful boot. The Rhodes quarterback, Jack Rhoarback—who lived up to his name all evening—dashed back 17 yards when added "umph" by Chappell would have pinned him for the full 52 yard distance.

Bob Boone at halfback did some neat capers on the greenward for Salem, but showed a tendency to loaf at times. His runs were good and several times on offense he sparked, but on other costly occasions he seemed to lack his usual gusto.

John Szmecyk, 151 pound Junior end, rates the highest praise among a line that performed far better than was expected of them. The Junior had was in time and time again to smear the bulky Rams for losses and he followed other plays—far from his territory—to break them up after short Rhodes gains.

The first quarter was even, neither team making any unusually strong bids nor impressive thrusts. Kicking by Rolland Marrick and Danny Smith was excellent, but Smith later outdid the Cleveland booter, to average 37 yards to booter's 25.

In the second frame, Rhodes made their most impressive bid for Salem dirt-to the Salem 42—but they were forced to kick and never got any closer to Salem's goal during the first half.

Salem advanced into Rhodes territory just once, in the second frame, when Marion Faint, who displayed top driving power, pushed his way 15 yards to the Rhodes 40. The play, however, was called back and Salem penalized five yards for backfield motion.

It looked bad shortly after the start of the second half. After Smith's kick got away from Rhoarback and rolled to the Rhodes 14, the Rams pushed down to Salem's 27, gaining 49 yards in the march.

The outstanding play of the game—the longest run of the game—came from the Rhodes 14 to the Salem 46, Rhoarback doing a nice job of plowing, shifting and reversing his field. Boone tagged him from behind to stop the 40-yard dash when it looked like he might be gone.

The Rams moved on, with more short thrusts by Rhoarback, to the Quaker 27, where Marrick punched the pignisk over the goal line on fourth down and Salem took over.

Faint, broke through for several impressive gains and it looked as if Salem might be on the move. A penalty forced the works and Smith was forced to punt to Cleveland territory.

As the fourth quarter got under way Smith took a Rhodes kick on his own 49. On the next play, he fumbled and Riddick recovered to give Rhodes the ball in Salem pastures.

Playing turn about, Rhoarback then fumbled on the next play and Louis Juliano recovered for Salem. Salem's break came on a play with five minutes left. Rhodes had the ball, third down and 24 to go, after a penalty and two losses back to their own 19 yard line. Merrick went back to kick, four Salem men joined him and the boot failed.

The ball rolled back to the 12, where Juliano touched it, lost it and Hollinger came up to cover for the Quakers. Rhodes was penalized five yards and it was Salem's ball, first and five on the seven yard line.

Smith's fumble closed that chapter and Rhodes booted out.

POTTERS EQUALLED 6 TO 6 IN FIRST TRY

Steuenville Central Has Edge In Rushing, Downs In Season's Opener

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 15.—Coach Don Ogden's first Potter football job didn't pan out so well, as the East Liverpool powerhouse was tied 6-6 last night by a strong Steuenville Central Catholic outfit here before 4,500 fans who braved a first quarter downpour to watch the opening.

East Liverpool was far from impressive, scoring their only touchdown in the final minutes of the first half on a 26 yard pass, Bob Ward to Alonzo Spencer.

The first downs were 11-2 in Steuenville's favor and the Irish rolled up 207 yards from rushing to a mere 42 for the Potters.

The game was a battle of heavyweights, both lines boxing three 200-pounders and the Potters averaging 187 while Steuenville hit a 182 average.

Steuenville's touchdown was scored in the third on a march, sparked by Jimmie Dugan, from the Potter 49-yard marker. Dugan crashed over from the one.

The Irish threatened several times but couldn't make the edge. The Potters muffed a chance from the Steuenville eight early in the game.

GOSHEN GRIDDERS LOSE FIRST, 19 TO 0

Bow To Poland; Goshen To Play Lowellville Next Friday

Goshen High lost its opener at Poland yesterday afternoon 19-0 as eight Goshen lettermen returned to the gridiron battles once again for the Damascus men.

A 35-yard pass interception run made one of the Poland three markers while Quarterback Kibler galloped for two others.

Goshen made no serious bids in the heavy downpour, which halted the game after five minutes of the fourth quarter.

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—One problem agitating the football-minded populace is whether Don Hutson intends to make his fourth annual retirement stick. . . . Don played for the Green Bay Packers in the All-Star game at Chicago because that was supposed to present the 1944 National Football league champions but he didn't appear in last night's exhibition against the Eagles. . . . Even his boss, Curly Lambeau, doesn't know what Hutson will decide and he no longer intends to coax his star performer. . . . One reason is Clyde Goodnight, the boy from Tulsa U. who has taken over Hutson's end post. . . . Lambeau fairly glows when he tells how fast and how promising Goodnight looks. . . . If Hutson is through, he will have established one more record. His first professional play was an 85-yard touchdown pass; his last an 85-yard scoring run with an intercepted pass.

Situation Is Unchanged As Ohio Football Leaders Win

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Situation unchanged" seems today to be the best way to describe the start of the 1945 high school football season.

Most of the state's 400 or so teams either played last night or will go into action today or tomorrow and most of 1944's powerhouse eleven picked up right where they halted operations last fall.

Toledo Libbey, Cincinnati Purcell and Columbus North, unbeaten and untied a year ago, registered impressive victories in their openers and such perennially strong outfits as Canton McKinley, Mansfield, Massillon and Toledo Waite joined them in the victory parade.

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the night was the ease with which Toledo Libbey rolled over Toledo Woodward, 33 to 0. Libbey's great 1944 team virtually was wiped out by graduation but the lack of experience didn't seem to bother the boys last night.

Canton McKinley, beaten only once last year, opened with a 21 to 0 victory over Canton Timken but the Bulldogs showed only flashes of offensive power. A crowd of 15,000 saw the game.

Tigers Off Again
Massillon also played before 15,000 and made its debut under the coaching of Augie Morningstar, a successful one by beating Akron, South, 21 to 0.

Mansfield walloped Marion Harding, 37 to 0, and that also came as somewhat of a surprise because the Tigers have only one letterman left from last year while Marion was reputed to be in much better shape for experienced talent.

Warren's Presidents, who lost only one game last year and that to Cleveland East Tech, got full revenge as they opened with a 29 to 0 victory over Tech. Starring for

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE
YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Japan—Some soldiers mope in prison. Some go mad. And some American prisoners in Japan held on to sanity by making little "memory books" of their past lives.

These books helped them to forget the winter cold, the lack of food, the hard labor and, at times, the brutal torture.

One of the most interesting "memory books" was made by a Marine private whom we shall call Oscar.

Oscar, whose true name can't be given until his relatives are notified he is alive and safe, enlisted in the Marines in 1939 and served in Shanghai before the war. He was taken prisoner Jan. 2, 1942, while in a Manila hospital under treatment for dengue fever.

During his imprisonment at Ashiro prison camp in Japan, he managed to obtain some sheets of paper and a strand of copper wire. From these, he fashioned his "memory book."

He put his name and rank in big letters on the front cover and on the back cover drew an angel of "peace and victory" and an American flag flying over a cross marked "last we forget." He even managed to find a piece of red crayon to color the stars in the flag.

Then in his odd hours he set down the memories. First he made a calendar and crossed off the days as he circled the 15th of August, when he first heard of Hirohito's capitulation, and Sept. 5, the day he was freed.

He then listed significant dates in his marine service and names and addresses of all his fellow prisoners. Next he recorded a bet with another prisoner that an armistice would be signed at an hour closer to 9 a. m. than noon. The bet was for "two wash basins, two apple pies, two jellyrolls and four malted milks, payable at first opportunity." Oscar won. The Japanese envoys signed shortly after 9 o'clock on the Battleship Missouri.

Oscar next listed all cities he had ever visited, his favorite jazz songs, and all the clothes he wanted to buy when he got home. There were 38 different items, including two pairs of riding pants, 12 white shirts, a pinstripe suit and a polo coat. Then he listed 33 presents he would like to receive, ranging from a portable typewriter to a shotgun and a cigar holder.

He set down all the holidays he could remember — first American, then Hawaiian, and Japanese — and followed that with a list of important anniversaries in his life. One notation said "Mothers' birthday" and five spaces below it was "August blank, 1938—brother buried."

Oscar then noted down all mountains he had seen, all theaters he had visited, all night clubs he had ever been in, schools he had attended, names of all his prison camp friends and other friends in the Marine corps, his schoolyard chums, names of every hotel he could remember, an itemized list of the contents of Red Cross food packages and the magazines and books he would like to read.

One book he wrote down was "rise, decline and fall of the Roman Empire" by Floyd Gibbons.

Changing the nature of the Japs is an educational job. Can it be done in as short a time as 12 months? If we do it we shall be magicians.

Japan's premier, Prince Hiroshi Kuni, in a statement to Russell Brines, Associated Press correspondent, calls upon the people of America to forget Pearl Harbor as his country builds "a completely new, peaceful nation."

"It is my belief," he said, "that the new Japan which will emerge will be shorn of militarism and will be as peace loving as the United States."

Well, this column doesn't challenge the prince's sincerity. His declaration is welcome, and we hope he's right. However, he will forgive us if we accept it now at face value, and ask him to repeat it a year or so from now.

Plan Pastel Walls To Brighten New Schools

CHICAGO — Postwar school houses will be colorful, home-like buildings serving the entire community as well as the children. O. H. Breidart, Chicago, architect, said that tomorrow's schools will have light woodwork, pastel walls and ceilings in various shades of green, gray, red, yellow and blue.

"Gone is the old school house with its cold brown woodwork and tan walls," he said.

"In the larger communities the school of tomorrow will be a multipurpose building. It will serve not only as a school but as a community center, public library, civic auditorium and even as a city administration building."

The new community interest in this colorful, all-purpose structure will reduce disciplinary problems and result in faster, more pleasant learning. It will cause parents and citizens to take more interest in their schools, he said.

Classrooms will be designed with flexible, movable equipment. Even seats and bookcases will be movable. Basement classrooms are a thing of the past, Breidart said.

Other musts on the postwar school building list are cafeterias, where hot lunches are served, and adequate parking space, he said.
